Dear

Dear Colleagues,
It is with great pride and excitement that I welcome you to the 2nd International Conference of the Critical Care Nephrology Association (CCNA 3.0), scheduled for 8th & 9th August 2026 at the Hyatt Regency, Viman nagr, Pune.

As the fields of Critical Care and Nephrology increasingly intersect, the need for collaborative dialogue, evidence-based practices, and innovation in nephro-critical care has never been more urgent. Patients presenting with acute kidney injury, fluid-electrolyte imbalances, and complex multi-organ dysfunction require nuanced, multi disciplinary management. This conference is our effort to bring together the best minds in both disciplines to address these evolving clinical challenges.

CCNA 3.0 promises to be a rich academic experience featuring expert panels, real-world case discussions, high-impact workshops, and global insights. The sessions are thoughtfully designed to benefit intensivists, nephrologists, physicians, and allied healthcare professionals alike. Our goal is not just to discuss emerging therapies and protocols but to shape a unified vision for improving patient care in High-acuity Renal Settings.

Pune, our host city, offers the perfect blend of cultural vibrancy and modern infrastructure, ensuring a memorable experience both inside and outside the conference hall.

On behalf of the organizing committee, I warmly invite you to join us at CCNA 3.0. Let us learn, collaborate, and lead the way forward in redefining critical care nephrology in India and beyond.

Looking forward to welcoming you in person.
Warm regards,

Prof. Dr. Rahul Pandit

3rd International Conference of the Critical Care Nephrology Association

Dear

Dear Colleagues,
It gives me immense pleasure to invite you for the 3rd International Conference of the Critical Care Nephrology Association (CCNA 3.0), taking place on 8th & 9th August 2026 at the Hyatt Regency, Viman nagr, Pune.

As nephrologists, we are increasingly faced with patients who present with complex critical illnesses—ranging from acute kidney injury in ICU settings to renal complications of systemic disease. The evolving landscape of nephro-critical care demands that we expand our clinical acumen, embrace collaborative approaches, and stay abreast of the latest evidence-based interventions.

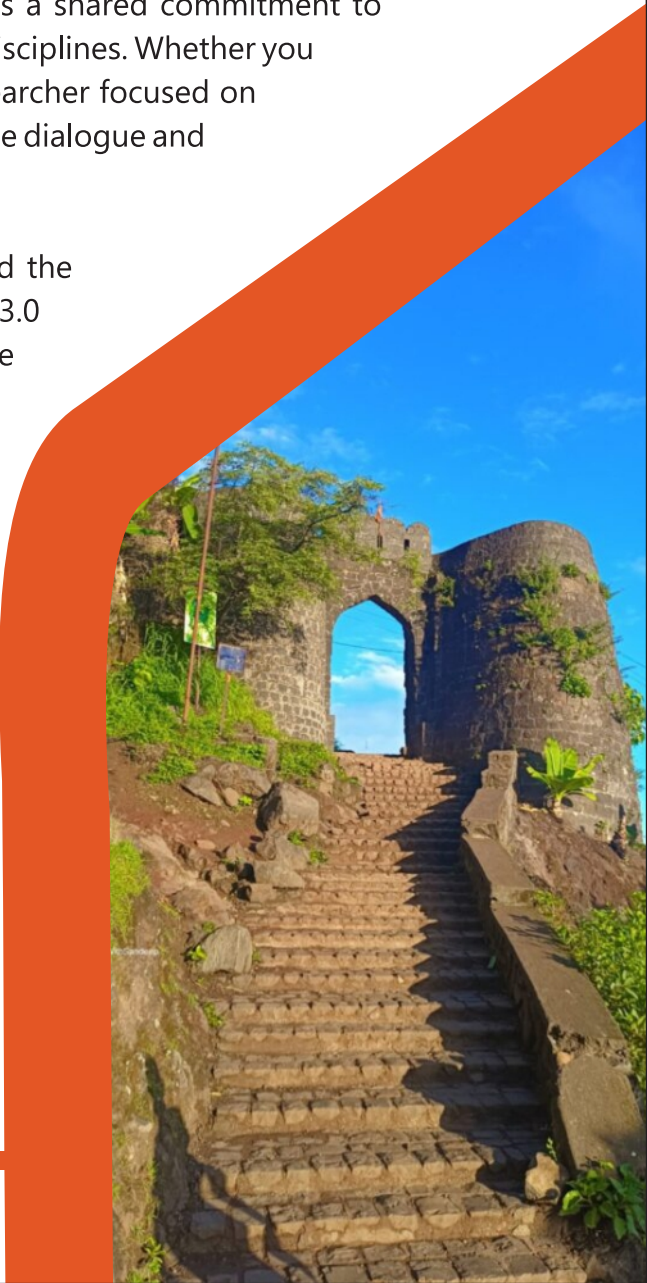

CCNA 3.0 is designed to be a truly multidisciplinary platform, bringing together leading experts from both nephrology and critical care to share knowledge, debate emerging practices, and offer hands-on training. Our scientific agenda will address practical challenges and advanced therapies relevant to those managing critically ill renal patients, including CRRT, fluid management, acid-base balance, and multi-organ dysfunction.

This conference is more than an academic gathering—it is a shared commitment to elevating standards of care and bridging the gap between disciplines. Whether you are a practicing nephrologist, a fellow in training, or a researcher focused on renal intensive care, your presence and insights will enrich the dialogue and help shape the future of this emerging field.

On behalf of the Critical Care Nephrology Association and the organizing team, I look forward to welcoming you to CCNA 3.0 in Mumbai—a city known not only for its clinical excellence but also for its vibrant spirit and hospitality.
Warm regards,
